

The locations of the major battles and movements of the armies during the war in the South are superimposed on this 1807 map. The routes of the British forces are shown in red, those of the Americans in blue.